3 credits left. Sign up for full access.

if the send button is disabled, type any short note, then click send.

Im looking to create a high converting hero image for my amazon listing. This will be the main image so it must meet amazons white background requirements, but it's very important that it look realistic as it does in this photo and not like an AI generated version of my product. In the past customers have commented in their reviews that the product is even more beautiful in person and I really want to convey that beauty in the main image to my CTR increases. As a white butter crock it's hard to stand out, however none of my competition uses boxes in their photos and I've tried that and it didnt seem to convert well.

Reference product image received. I will generate your lifestyle image as soon as you are ready.

To confirm, you'd like a high-converting Amazon hero image of your white butter crock for the main listing photo. It must:

- Meet Amazon's strict white background requirements,
- Look 100% realistic (not AI-generated or overly "digital"),
- Convey the product's real-life beauty (as noted by customer reviews),
- Stand out in a crowded category, but without using a box or packaging.

Is there anything else you would like to specify? For example: do you want the lighting to remain soft and natural, or should it be brighter? Should the product be shown with a subtle shadow or floating? Any text or graphic elements, or just the crock itself?

lets start with just the crock itself. Im trying to price my product as a premium option as the market is saturated with generic alibaba style mass products crocks. so use that in your decision of how the lighting should be. It's just important to me that it show up. It is also much larger than other crocks so I like to be sure to convey that as best I can with the zoom of the image.

Here is your ultra-realistic Amazon hero image of the white butter crock, featuring all original product details and logos retained. The image uses a pure white background, soft yet bright premium lighting, and an elegant composition that maximizes the crock's presence. A subtle, natural shadow ensures the product is grounded and not floating.

You can view or download your image here:

If you need further edits or a different format, please let me know!