

A Woman and the War - Frances Evelyn Greville

A Woman and the War
Frances Evelyn (Daisy) Greville

It is not without serious reflection that I have collected these thoughts in war time to offer in book form to those who may care to read and ponder them. They were written for the most part on the spur of vital moments, when some of the tendencies of the evil times through which we are living seemed to call for immediate protest. . . .

I have sought to point out where and why and how we are moving backwards. I can command no eloquence to gild my words, I cannot pretend to have more to say than will have occurred to every man and woman of advanced views and normal intelligence, but it does not suffice to think; one must make thought the prelude of action. (Summary excerpted from the preface)

Read by volunteer readers. 28 Tracks. Total running time: 06:54:23

This recording is in the public domain and may be reproduced, distributed, or modified without permission. For more information or to volunteer, visit librivox.org.

Cover image: 1910 photograph of Frances Evelyn Maynard, "Daisy Greville", Countess of Warwick, by Alexander Bassano (1829–1913), retrieved from Wikimedia Commons. Copyright expired in U.S., Canada, EU. and all countries with author's life +70 yrs laws. Cover design by TriciaG. This design is in the public domain.

A Woman and the War - Frances Evelyn Greville