

The Lives of the Queens of England 6 A&E Strickland

The Lives of the Queens of England is a multi-volumed work attributed to Agnes Strickland, though it was mostly researched and written by her sister Elisabeth. These volumes give biographies of the queens of England from the Norman Conquest in 1066. Although by today's standards, it is not seen as a very scholarly work, the Stricklands used many sources that had not been used before.

Volume six includes the biography of Elizabeth I through the year 1586.

Cover picture stature of Queen Elizabeth I originally at Ludgate but now at St.Dunstans in the West. It is thought to be the oldest outdoor stature in London, current thinking is that it dates from 1670-99 and is by Cartwright or Bumpstead or Kerwin.
