

The Metal Moon

R. F. STARZL (1899 – 1976) E. C. Smith

With interplanetary exploration, expeditions will range through and beyond the solar system. Colonization will not be far behind. But what will the colonies be like at the end of several hundred centuries and would they even recognize each other as members of the same human stock? The book focuses on four different races, and what will be the outcome of contact between them. - Summary by Paul Harvey
