

JOURNEY GROUP COMMITMENTS

Commit to Your Group

You are ready to grow. They are ready to grow. Commit to go for it together for this 4-month sprint and see what the Lord will do. We are following Jesus together.

Don't Be the Genius

In texts and Zooms, leave space for everyone to give input. This is not the place to be impressive, but effective. In Midweek Connections, we ask questions, but giving advice is discouraged. We are all learning to listen to Holy Spirit for ourselves.

Show Up For Your Group

Don't leave your group hanging. Respond to texts, give encouragement and prayer, and make your best effort to be at Midweek Connections. You need your group, but they need you, too.

Don't Overdo It

Please keep texting and meetups brief. Runaway text threads and lingering on Zoom take away from the point and can wear you out, rather than making you come back for more. See the next commitment for the loophole.

Listen and Pray in Confidence

Text threads and Midweek Connections should be places of safety, where matters should remain confidential. Cover the matter in faith-filled prayer and, if needed, pass any requests for further pastoral care or counseling to your section leader. Gossip does not build people, nor is it the way of Jesus, so it will not be tolerated.

Continue the Conversation

There's nothing wrong with catching up later through text, for coffee or on a playdate to go more in-depth about the Word or what God is doing in you. We encourage it! This way, text threads and Midweek Connections can stay on-point, but you don't miss out on the riches Christ is offering you through fellowship.
